THE International Conference of Agricultural Economists was inaugurated during the summer of 1929 , when fifty economists from eleven countries met for two weeks at Dartington Hall, Devon, England, on the invitation of Dr. L. K. Elmhirst. The second Conference was held at Cornell University, and was attended by over 300 members and visitors, twenty countries being represented. At this meeting a formal Constitution was drawn up and approved.

The third Conference was held at Bad Eilsen when the attendance was 170 from nineteen countries. The fourth was at St. Andrews, when 219 members and visitors attended, of whom 127 were from twenty-one countries outside the United Kingdom. The fifth was at Macdonald College, where the attendance was $s 10$ from twentythree countries. The sixth, at Dartington Hall in 1947, was the first to be held after the war and was deliberately limited in numbers. The attendance was 82 from twenty-three countries. The seventh was held at Stresa, when the attendance was 271 from twenty-five countries. The eighth, at Michigan State College, had an attendance of 340 from forty-five countries. The ninth, at Otaniemi, was attended by 364 from thirty-eight countries. The tenth, at Mysore City, India, was attended by 350 from fifty-one countries.

The Conference has now a total membership of 848 , with 98 National or Area Groups. Its representative character has been steadily growing since the first informal gathering until it now embraces the majority of the countries where the study of agricultural economics is pursued.

The object of the Conference is that of fostering development of the science of agricultural economics and of furthering the application of the results of economic investigation of agricultural processes and agricultural organization in the improvement of economic and social conditions relating to agriculture and rural life.

Membership consists of individuals who pay $£_{\mathrm{I}}, $ $$, or their equivalent per year, but not exceeding $£^{2}, $ 10$, or their equivalent, for the period between any two Conferences (which shall be the period from the end of one Conference to the end of the next). The current period will be three years, for which the subscription will thus be $£ 2, $ 10$, or their equivalent. Members will be entitled to a free copy of the Proceedings of the most recent Conference and to copies of the International Journal of Agrarian Affairs. The majority of members are professional agricultural economists engaged in research, teaching, or public administration, but the membership is representative as well of a wide range of agricultural and economic interests. Applications may be made to one of the Secretaries, who will put the applicant in touch, if desired, with the appropriate national correspondent.

Meetings are held at intervals of two or three years, at a time and place determined by the Council. No two successive meetings can be held in the same country. The meeting affords a unique opportunity of personal intercourse with fellow-workers from all parts of the world.

The Proceedings, consisting of papers and discussions at each Conference, are published, and one copy free of charge is sent to each member. Extra copies may be purchased by members at reduced rates. Copies of the Proceedings of the First, Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, and Tenth Conferences are available on application to Dr. Joseph Ackerman, Farm Foundation, 600 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago s, Illinois, U.S.A.
