Half the world is hungry for your experience.

Around the world an estimated 800 million people are hungry or starving. And many more that do have food to eat, need a more balanced diet. They could eat. With your help.

If you have an agriculture degree or farming experience, your knowledge of crop development, plant protection, soil science, animal husbandry or agricultural economics is needed. As a Peace Corps volunteer, you could help close the food gap, working in developing countries to give people the skills they need to grow their own food.

It's one of many projects in more than sixty countries where Peace Corps volunteers are sharing their skills with others to make life better. And it's a unique opportunity to discover the world, and broaden your own capabilities with some real experience. At a professional level.

Whatever your degree or field of experience, there's a chance you can put it to work in today's Peace Corps. For further information, call Peace Corps, toll-free, 800-424-8580. And put your experience to work where it can do a world of good.

U.S. Peace Corps.
The toughest job you'll ever love.

Interested in Food and Fitness?

USDA's Food and Fitness Program is designed to increase public awareness of the abundance and variety of foods provided by American agriculture, and the relationship of diet and exercise to good health. The program aims to encourage all Americans to use this bounty of food and physical fitness opportunities to their own advantage and health--every day.

As part of this effort, USDA has issued a poster, "Food and Fitness--An Everyday Event." The colorful poster resembles a calendar and is filled with information about food and fitness. For example, more than 4,500 new food products are introduced each year in the United States. The poster--measuring 23-1/2 inches by 35-1/2 inches--is available for $4.25 ($5.35 foreign) from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Ask for the Food and Fitness poster, stock number 001-000-04475-3. Please make checks or money orders payable to Superintendent of Documents or call GPO at (202) 783-3238 and use your VISA, MasterCard, or CHOICE.
