Contributors

MARTIN S. SIMON for the last several years has conducted research on the demand for textile fibers and products. Until recently he was with the Cotton and Other Fibers Section in the Statistical and Historical Research Branch, AMS. Last month he joined the research staff of the Connell Rice and Commission Company to be associated with Richard J. Foote, formerly of AMS.

HAROLD F. HUDDLESTON, a mathematical statistician in the Agricultural Estimates Division of AMS, has previously contributed to our pages in reporting on research work on crop yield forecasting.

MARC NERLOVE wrote a critical review of Professor Milton Friedman's A Theory of the Consumption Function for our January issue.

HAROLD F. BREIMYER is Head of the Livestock, Fats, and Oils Section, Statistical and Historical Research Branch, AMS.

ROBERT H. MASUCCI is a member of the Farm Income Branch, Agricultural Economics Division, AMS. He is responsible for the development of estimates of farmers' production expenses.

HARRY A. STEELE is Head of the Land and Water Section, Farm Economics Research Division, ARS.

ALVIN L. BERTRAND, a rural sociologist, is on sabbatical leave from Louisiana State University and is serving his year away from academic duties as Head of the Levels of Living Section, Farm Population and Rural Life Branch, AMS. He is the senior author and editor of a textbook, Rural Sociology—An Analysis of Contemporary Rural Life, to be published in the fall by McGraw-Hill.
