RAYMOND G. BRESSLER is professor of agricultural economics, University of California, and president of the American Farm Economic Association. He is well known for his studies in dairy marketing and his leadership in economic-engineering studies of agricultural processing industries. For several years, he has served as a consultant to USDA's Marketing Research Division.

OLMAN HEE is an analytical statistician in the Agricultural Economics Division, AMS. He was formerly with the Bureau of the Census, Agricultural Division, and prior to that with agencies of USDA. He is presently engaged in research on the supply, demand and price structure for potatoes.

JAMES P. CAVIN, one of our editors, is Chief of the Statistical and Historical Research Branch, Agricultural Economics Division, AMS.

J. RICHARD GRANT is Chief of the Statistical Clearance Branch, Statistical Standards Division, AMS. He is responsible for the review, coordination, and clearance of all Departmental survey plans and reporting requirements involving collection of data from the public and serves as the Department's liaison officer with the Office of Statistical Standards, Bureau of the Budget.

JAMES R. ANDERSON, a member of the staff of the Land and Water Research Branch, Farm Economics Research Division, ARS, has recently been working on an inventory of major uses of land in the United States.

RICHARD D. BUTLER is a member of the staff of the Statistical and Historical Research Branch, Agricultural Economics Division, AMS. He assists in the preparation of the Sugar Situation.

MARGARET S. BRYANT is Chief of the Division of Bibliography in the U. S. Department of Agriculture Library. She came to the Library in 1943 as a member of the staff of its Reference Section, and was head of that section before assuming her present position in 1947.
