Formerly S.T.O.P.—Safe Tables Our Priority

The text "20 YEARS" is rendered in a large, bold, sans-serif font. Each letter is filled with a collage of small, square photographs of diverse people of various ages and ethnicities, representing a community. The text is set against a white background within a rounded rectangular frame, and a faint reflection of the text is visible below it.

YEARS

Mission of STOP Foodborne Illness

To prevent illness and death from foodborne pathogens by:

- Advocating for sound public policy
- Building public awareness
- Assisting those impacted by foodborne illness

The logo features a red octagonal stop sign with the word "STOP" in white, bold, sans-serif capital letters. To the right of the stop sign, the words "Foodborne Illness" are written in a black, sans-serif font, with "Foodborne" on the top line and "Illness" on the bottom line.

The Toll of Foodborne Illness

EACH YEAR...

48 million
people become ill

Source: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

EACH YEAR...

128,000
people are hospitalized

Source: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

EACH YEAR...

3,000
people die

Source: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

THAT MEANS EACH DAY:

8 people die from contaminated food

AND EACH YEAR:

1 in 6 Americans
become ill

So How Far Have We Come?

- 1994- E.coli O157:H7 Declared an Adulterant in Raw Ground Beef
- 1994- PR/HACCP Rule Promulgated
- 1996- PR/HACCP Rule Finalized

□ 1998- HACCP Rule Roll-out

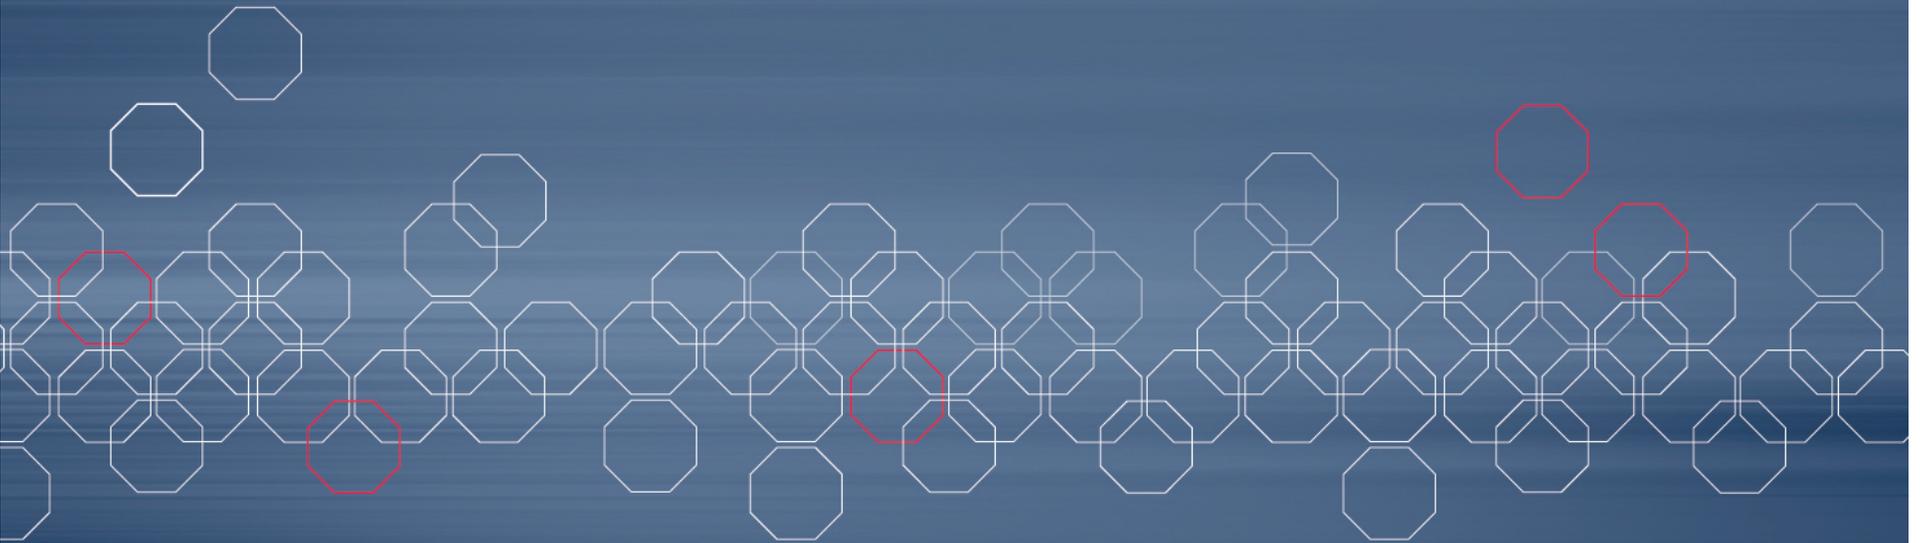

So How Far Have We Come?

- 2000- Zero Tolerance for Salmonella in Ground Beef for National School Lunch Program
- 2012- The “Big Six” STEC Declared Adulterants
- 2013- ???????

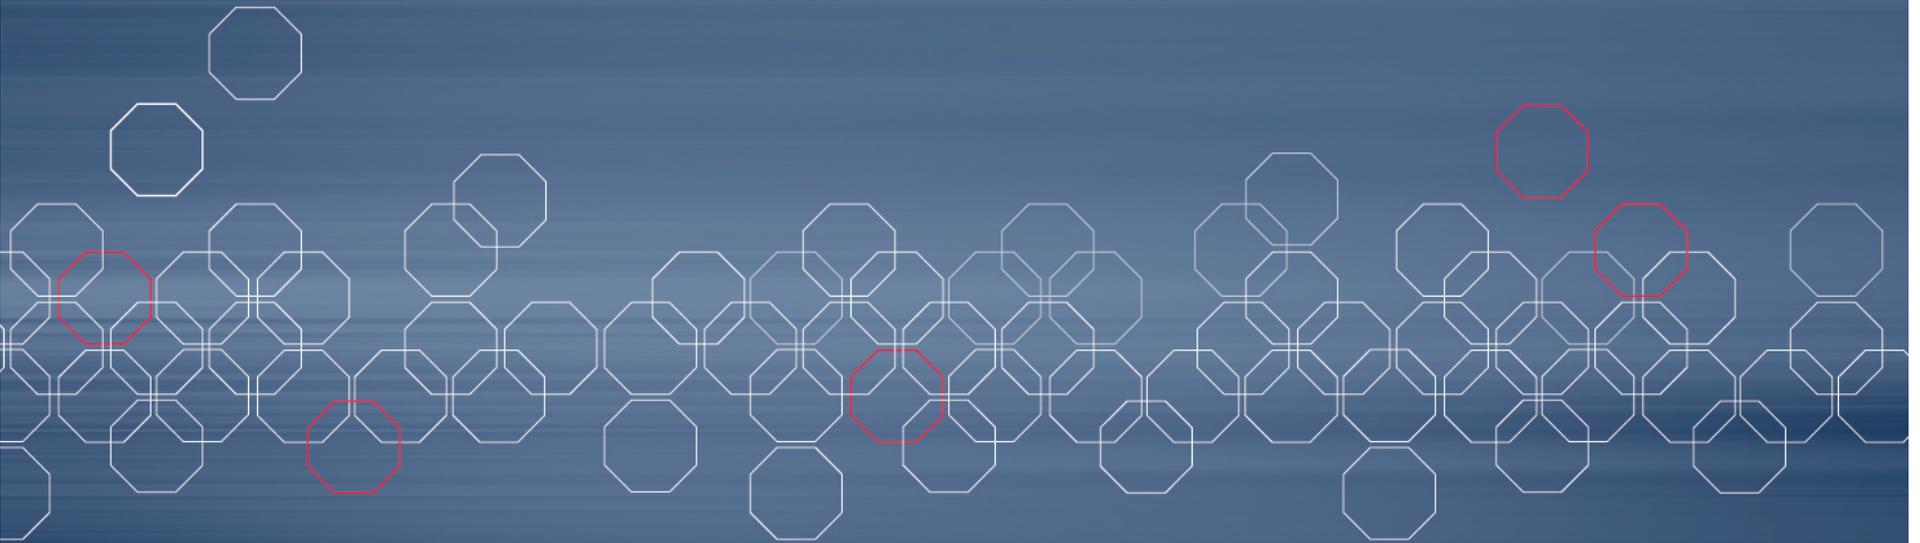

So What's Next?

- Redefinition of “Adulterated”
- Declare All Enterohemorrhagic E. coli Adulterants

So What's Next?

- Antibiotic-resistant Strains of Pathogens
- On-farm “Gap”

What Must Not Happen

- Budget-driven Policies
- More Industry Self-regulation

STOP has been supporting those who have fallen sick and those who have lost their loved ones from foodborne illness, their families, friends, and larger communities of concerned consumers for the last 20 years. We recognize and give a voice to those who have experienced the ill effects of contaminated food.
