Introduction
The ERS reports provide a comprehensive overview of the current state of the agricultural and rural economy. This issue includes a special section on the impact of energy prices on farm production and rural development.

Food Industries
This section covers the latest trends in food processing, distribution, and consumption. It includes a detailed analysis of the impact of inflation on food prices and the role of government intervention in the market.

Livestock and Other Industries
This section provides an in-depth look at the livestock and other agricultural sectors. It discusses the challenges faced by producers, including disease outbreaks and market fluctuations, and offers strategies for maintaining profitability.

The Land and Farming
This section examines the current state of the land and farming sectors. It addresses issues such as land use changes, farm consolidation, and the impact of government policies on the rural landscape.

Energy and Inputs
This section focuses on the energy and input sectors, highlighting the growing importance of energy in agricultural production. It analyzes the impact of rising energy costs on farm operations and explores potential energy-saving technologies.

Rural Issues
This section addresses a wide range of rural issues, including infrastructure development, rural education, and the impact of urbanization on rural communities. It offers insights into the challenges facing rural areas and potential solutions.

International Issues
This section provides an overview of international agricultural and rural issues. It discusses the impact of global trade agreements, foreign aid, and international market trends on the U.S. agricultural sector.

Suggestions for Submitting Manuscripts for Agricultural Economics Research

Contributors can expedite reviewing and printing of their articles by doing these things:

1. SOURCE. Indicate in a memorandum how the material submitted is related to the economic research program of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and its cooperating agencies. State your own connection with the program.
2. CLEARANCE. Obtain any approval required in your own agency or institution before sending your manuscript to one of the editors of Agricultural Economics Research. Attach a copy of such approval to the manuscript.
3. ORIGINALITY OF MATERIAL. It is our policy to print original material. We consider alternative treatments of material published elsewhere, but such treatments need to differ substantially from the original approach. When submitting your manuscript, identify, if applicable, related material either published or submitted for publication.
4. ABSTRACT. Include an abstract and at least three keywords when you submit your article. The abstract should not exceed 100 words. It should report the major findings of your research.
5. NUMBER OF COPIES. Submit three good copies.
6. TYPING. Double space everything, including abstract, footnotes, and references.
7. FOOTNOTES. Number consecutively throughout the article.
8. REFERENCES. Check all references carefully for accuracy and completeness.
9. CHARTS AND OTHER ARTWORK. Use charts sparingly. Keep design as simple as possible. Submit all artwork in draft rather than in final form, accompanied by neatly prepared pages with essential data for replotting.
