INTRODUCTION

This publication contains records of car-lot shipments of fruits and vegetables originating in the United States for the calendar years 1930 and 1931. In 1930, shipments reported totaled 1,053,602 cars, a decrease of about 2 percent from the peak shipments of 1929, and in 1931, 1,023,333 cars, a decrease of about 5 percent from the 1929 shipments. These decreases may be attributed, in part, to the increasing use of the motor truck as a carrier of some of these commodities, and to some extent to the Nation-wide depression or other causes. The total annual movement of fruits and vegetables produced in the United States is much greater than the car-lot figures indicate, as increasingly large quantities are moved by motor truck, and considerable quantities are moved in less-than-carload lots by the common carriers, but these are not included because of lack of adequate data.

<sup>1</sup> Compiled by Leona Norgren of the Division of Fruits and Vegetables. Acknowledgment and thanks are extended to the common carriers for their cooperation and valuable assistance in furnishing the original data from which this bulletin is compiled.

The information in this bulletin supplements that in Statistical Bulletin 35, Car-lot Shipments of Fruits and Vegetables from Stations in the United States for the Calendar Years 1928 and 1929, and is based upon information secured by the market news service of the Division of Fruits and Vegetables, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, from monthly mail reports covering 43 fresh fruits, vegetables, melons, mixed citrus and deciduous fruits, and mixed vegetables, furnished by about 10,000 local agents of railroad, express, and boat companies. These reports are checked with daily telegraphic reports furnished by the operating departments of the carriers.

Shipment figures include car-lot freight and express movement by rail, and boat shipments reduced to car-lot equivalents, and are confined to the movement of domestic fruits and vegetables.

Shipments are grouped by States and counties. The number of cars of each commodity billed during each of the calendar years 1930 and 1931 is shown for each station handling 10 or more cars in either year. Stations originating less than 10 cars of a given commodity have been grouped together and listed as "Other stations" in their proper county. Counties originating less than 10 cars of a given commodity are grouped together and listed as "Other counties" in their proper State.

"Conductors' waybills" cover movements from nonagency points forwarded on waybills made out by conductors. Where possible, such shipments have been grouped under the proper county; otherwise they are added to the State total.

A "pick-up car" in express service is a car that proceeds from station to station and picks up small or less-than-carload lots until a carload is accumulated. This carload may then be shipped either to final destination to one or more consignees, or it may move to a "break-bulk" point for reloading or consolidation with other commodities for shipment to final destination. Pick-up cars are added to State totals in this bulletin.

"Boat reports" cover movements by boat reduced to car-lot equivalents. In some instances it has been possible to credit such movements to the originating point; in other cases they are credited to either county or State.

In 1930 mixed melons were added to the former list of commodities. In 1931, beets, blackberries (including also dewberries and loganberries), green corn, and greens were also added to the list of commodities and are shown for 1931 only. Prior to 1930, shipments of Casaba, Honey Ball, Honeydew, and Persian melons were included in miscellaneous melons, but in 1930 they were segregated according to classes. Tangerines were formerly included with oranges, but were tabulated separately in 1930 and 1931.

Table 1 contains a 10-year comparison, showing the total shipments of each commodity for each of the 10 years, 1922 to 1931, inclusive. In table 2 will be found a 10-year comparison by States for the same years. Table 3 was compiled to show the approximate period within which the bulk of the car-lot shipments of each commodity from each State moved to market. Complete data on imported stock are not available; however, table 4 gives a statement of imports of certain fruits and vegetables as reported to the market news service of this bureau, or to the United States Department of Commerce.
