Contributing to increased efficiency
in fertilizer use

HTM-MFL-2638

Fertilizer being an expensive input forms a sizeable percentage of a farmer's total cultivation cost. Therefore, it is of critical importance to use every unit of fertilizer effectively.

Towards this, in all our field programs as well as mass media programs, we have been communicating to farmers the following practices designed to enhance fertilizer use efficiency.

- Soil testing to determine fertilizer needs for each field and crop.
- Placement of fertilizers.

- Split application of nitrogen.
- Conservation and efficient utilization of organic wastes.
- Use of neem cake treated urea for top dressing of paddy.
- Use of high yielding varieties, proper water management and timely control of weeds and other pests.

GUIDELINES FOR SUBMISSION OF PAPERS BY AUTHORS

1. Subjects: The objective of the Journal is to provide a forum for dissemination and exchange of findings of research on agricultural economics. Purely descriptive material is not appropriate for such a Journal. Papers dealing with new developments in research and methods of analysis or which apply existing methods and techniques to new problems and situations with particular reference to India will be preferred. Papers should be based on original research done by the author(s). A one-page statement indicating the author's own assessment of the importance and relevance of the findings reported in his paper in the context of recent researches would be welcome.

The larger we grow,
the closer we get!

In 1973, State Bank opened its 3000th office. And now, just nine years later, our office network is 6000 strong.

Over the years State Bank has always been close to the farmer. Taking banking services to the most remote corners of the country. Helping farmers and others involved in agriculture with liberal schemes of financial assistance.

Today, over 75% of our branches are in rural and semi-urban areas. Our advances to small scale industries have crossed Rs.1000 crores and the advances to agriculture have exceeded Rs.1400 crores.

And now, with a network of over 6000 offices, our involvement with people grows deeper. As we look ahead to even closer ties.
