Notice

Last year the Journal of Food Distribution Research was contacted by EBSCO (the Elton B. Stephens Company) asking us to permit them to sell the content of the Journal through their services. The Officers and Board of the Society, after researching and discussing the issues involved, voted in October to enter into this agreement. Because EBSCO actively markets its line of products, the Journal of Food Distribution Research will achieve broader coverage of its potential markets in academics, government, and business. This will be the first 'marketing' our Journal has received. The Society will receive a percentage of sales; these funds will be used to enhance the Journal and the Society's other activities as appropriate.

EBSCO's offer to FDRS is similar to the agreements it has to commercialize the content of other journals. Issues more than a year old are already available free through AGECON Search.

Founded in 1943, EBSCO is in more than 20 businesses, including subscription provider for more than 250,000 journals serving more than 50,000 libraries worldwide; publishing journal article databases. It is ranked in the top 200 of the nation's largest privately held corporations.

We look forward to a rewarding relationship with EBSCO.
