THEME AND PURPOSE

The conference results from a recommendation by the Commission of Enquiry into the Marketing Act that such a conference be held either annually or half-yearly.

The primary aim of AGROCON '84 is to examine thoroughly the position of agricultural price policy, the costs of inputs, the mutual relationships between the various branches of agriculture, as well as the different approaches of the interested parties concerned. The result of this will then be projected on the future so that meaningful forecasts of the different sectors in agriculture can be made. These forecasts may serve as guidelines for agriculture in the future.

A further aim is to make a positive contribution to agricultural economy and the economy in general, as well as to effectuate better co-ordination amongst Organised Agriculture, and between Organised Agriculture and other interested groups.
