The Journal of Agricultural Cooperation is a refereed journal published by the American Institute of Cooperation. Its purpose is to encourage research on issues of importance to U.S. farmer cooperatives and provide a forum for the review and exchange of research results among individuals in universities, cooperatives, and government.

The Journal invites manuscripts of practical interest to U.S. farmer cooperatives. Submissions should report results of applied or basic research on economic, legal, or sociological aspects of farmer cooperation. Reviews will be conducted anonymously by members of the respective professions. Articles will be selected on the basis of interest to cooperatives and researchers, originality, and effectiveness of presentation.

Please follow "Guidelines for Submitting Manuscripts." Manuscripts will be accepted at any time. Deadline for submitting manuscripts for the next issue is November 1, 1986, but early submission is encouraged to ensure consideration for the issue. Subsequent issues may be subject to a page charge.

The four articles in this issue were selected from 11 manuscripts submitted for consideration. Three papers were invited by the Editorial Board to supplement the topics discussed in the selected articles. Invited papers did not undergo the review process used in selecting the articles.
